THE COURTS.

A YOUNG WIFE'S TRIUMPH IN COURT. JUDGE PRYOR DENOUNCES THE WITNESSES WHOM HER HUSBAND BROUGHT AGAINST

HER IN A DIVORCE SUIT. There was brought to trial yesterday afternoon before Judge Pryor in the Court of Common Pleas an action instituted by Ernest Korne for an abso-lute divorce from his wife Louise, to whom he was married on February 21, 1892. Evidence was given supper and afterward to a hotel.

When Mrs. Korne was put on the stand to disprove the evidence of two men who swore that they had taken her to hotels, and of one woman who swore that she was an inmate of disorderly houses, ere was a surprise. Mrs. Korne, who is twentyone and nice looking, swore that she had never even seen the men who testified against her and that she had never been on the Bowery in her life. swore that she had never been out of her father's house, where she went to live when her husband left her, alone later than 10:20 at night, and that her sister always accompanied her.

Her sister swore to the same facts, and the defendant's father's testimony clinched the matter. He is John Hellar and looks the honest eld German all over He swore that when his daughter's hus-band left her he had offered her a home in his ouse, where she did the housework. He said he ad been particularly careful with his children, especially the girls, and he never went to bed until snew they had retired.

When Hellar left the stand he moved over to Korne was sitting and, muttering an epithet, raised his fist to strike him. His eldest daughter jumped up quickly and, grasping her father's arm, led him to a seat.

When both sides asked until to-morrow to intro fuce more testimony, the Judge said the case must

Both sides then rested, and Judge Pryor, his face crimson with anger, turned to the defendant's face crimson with anger, turned to the defendant's counsel and said:

"Defendant, take judgment. I can conceive of no female, especially a young girl of twenty-one, as the defendant is, being guilty of such gross acts of immorality as are here charged. The entire testimony given for the plaintiff is open to the gravest suspicion. The men who swear to intimacy with the defendant are disreputable characters, whose word is worthless, and this is equally true of the woman who comes here to rob another woman of her name, and who is herself an habitude of disreputable houses, which she claims she visits to reform the inmates. I do not believe her, and if the testimony of the plaintiff's witnesses was uncontradicted he could not get a decree from me. But it is contradicted, by her sister, a reputable working girl, and by her venerable father, whose testimony absolutely precludes the possibility of there being any truth in the story of the disreputable witnesses for the plaintiff. The good character of the defendant is triumphantiy established."

Judge Pryor said he would give the defendant an allowance if there was anything to base it on.

A VERDICT AGAINST "THE WORLD." THE JURY AWARDS $5,000 DAMAGES TO THE AUTHORESS OF THE WORLD'S FAIR ODE.

The trial of the suit of Miss Harriet Monroe, of cago, against the Press Publishing Company Chicago, against the Fress Fundame Conductive ("The New-York World"), to recover $50,000 damages for publishing her World's Fair Ode without her permission and with many errors, was resumed yesterday (Thursday) before Judge Shipman in the Inited States Circuit Court, and resulted in a victory for the plaintiff.

Bowers for "The World" and Mr. McCarthy for Miss Moore addressed the jury. Mr. Bowers said the errors complained of in the printing of the poem married on February 21, 182. Evidence was given on the part of the husband to show that his wife has been in the habit of frequenting Columbus Hall, a notorious place on the Bowery. It was testified that she was seen there by a friend of her husband, who, not knowing who she was, took her out to supper and afterward to a hotel.

When Mrs. Kyrne was nut on the stand to distance with the stand to d of which he is vice-president, should be made permanent. The argument was opened by Mr. Hummel, who demanded not only that the injunction be made permanent, but that a receiver be appointed.

Mr. Herman and the business of Koster, Bial & Co., close to the lowes permanent, which is a point of the lowes permanent, which is a point of the lowest permanent, but that a receiver be appointed. Mr. Hummel began by charging that Koster and Bial had appropriated funds to the gross amount of $30,000 belonging to the corporation. Immediately thereafter, according to Mr. Hummel, Koster and Bial conspired together to defraud their partner, Mr. Hammerstein. "Their first overt act in that dithemselves at the outrageous price of $8,696.93 the fixtures and furniture in the former place of business of Koster & Bial, in West Twenty-third-st.

Those fixtures were not worth 1990

Those fixtures were not worth 1990

"The next fraud upon Mr. Hammerstein," said

Mr. Hummel, "was when Koster and Bial, without the knowledge or consent of their associate, purture the first of the fi for themselves as retail purveyors of drinks and April cigars, large bills of goods, for which they paid cash, June without the usual discounts. Not only that, but Koster and Bial bought the goods from themselves for the use of the corporation at 10 per cent above their cost price."

Then turning his attention to the several items on the books of the corporation, Mr. Hummel said:
"Take the one item of $3,660, which is charged against the corporation as per expenses, per it. When we asked what this money had been used Miss Moore addressed the jury. Mr. Bowers said the errors complained of in the printing of the poem were triffing; that the worst error was the transposition of a couplet, while most of the mistakes were in the use of one wrong word for the word in the original.

Mr. McCarthy, for the complainant, declared that "The World" had deeply injured Miss Monroe's reputation.

"How was this paper's boasted circulation based built up largely in disregarding the right of others.

Judge Shipman charged the jury for half an hour.

The jury was out for fifteen minutes and returned with a verdict of $5,000 damages against. The World."

Miss Monroe and her father and mother left the courtroom highly delighted. No motion for appeal was taken.

MRS. C. MAUBEC GETS A SEPARATION.

Judge Pryor, of the Court of Common Pleas, after listening to the evidence of Mrs. Mary Maubec, in her suit for a separation from her busband, Charles Maubec, has decided that she was entitled to a decree of separation, hut as to the permanent alimony to be awarded her, he said that he would send that question to a referee to take testimony concerning the income of her husband.
